

Spring BEEFonomics Part-Time Position(s)

Send Cover Letter & Resume to:

Emily Jackson, Director of Public Relations and Consumer Marketing
Ohio Beef Council
10600 U.S. Highway 42
Marysville, Ohio 43040
614-873-6736 (phone)
614-873-6835 (fax)
beef@ohiobeef.org

Requirements:

Must be a junior or senior in college, any college located in the State of Ohio, or recently graduated
Must have a minimum one full day from each week completely open to travel and present to schools for entire day
Must have own vehicle, willing and able to drive once a week
Proven organizational skills and excellent oral communications skills are essential
Timeliness and dependability are vital
Agricultural background required, cattle background preferred

Specific Responsibilities:

Travel to middle and high schools weekly to present the BEEFonomics educational program

Serve as the positive, informative face of Ohio's beef industry to hundreds of students across the state

Responsible for attending a maximum of two BEEFonomics trainings held at the OBC office in Marysville

Responsible for fully understanding the BEEFonomics presentations, and any beef questions that may arise from students and staying up-to-date on current beef industry issues

Coordinate with Ohio Beef Council staff weekly to receive instructions and new school information

Responsible for regular, timely information updates for the OBC staff

Serve as liaison between the Ohio Family and Consumer Science Teachers Association and Beef Council staff

Perform other related duties and responsibilities as requested by the OBC staff for the development of OBC, OCA and OCF programs.

Compensation:

Employee will receive a $1,000 scholarship or check, with availability for higher pay if traveling twice weekly, providing they are willing and available to participate for a minimum of 10 school weeks in the spring

Employee will be reimbursed $0.575 per mile for travel to school

Employee will be reimbursed all food expenses for presentations