Undergraduate Research, Teaching, & Global Education

If you're taking the right classes and are on track to graduate but wondering what other opportunities are available to enrich your academic experience...then this event is for you!

Join your peers as we mull over the extras, specifically the wonderful undergraduate research and teaching opportunities, as well as the Faculty-led global education programming available within our department.

Don't miss out on key information about application deadlines, funding, and even first-hand experiences as told by your peers!
