Helping the world thrive

Cargill Animal Health & Nutrition (ANH) provides customized animal efficiency solutions to commercial producers across the Americas, Europe, and Asia. Rather than focusing on standardized nutrition products, we build customized ingredient blends and management programs to fit each situation. Our research-proven management and nutrition technologies suit the specific needs of our diverse array of customers. And our animal nutrition and management professionals offer the scope and creativity to serve the unique needs of each customer.
